L&T Technology: Stock factors in improving deal pipeline, growth

December quarter performance was better than estimates, led by good show across verticals

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 21 January

The highest number of large deals in a quarter, strong deal pipeline, and broad-based growth across key verticals for L&T Technology Services highlights that the worst affected IT segment of engineering, research and development (ER&D) is on a firm recovery path. The pure play ER&D player reported a constant currency growth of 6.6 per cent on a sequential basis, which was better than the Street's expectation of 4-5 per cent growth. The company has also revised its guidance for financial year 2020-21 (FY21).

Organic growth in the December quarter (Q3) was led by the plant engineering and industrial product segments, which were up 5.5-9.2 per cent sequentially. The highest growth, however, came from the telecom segment, which reported a growth of 14.3 per cent. This also includes the acquisition of US-based Orchestra Technology in October. On a year-on-year (YoY) basis, however, almost all verticals have seen a fall in revenues, barring medical devices.

Its largest vertical, transportation, which accounts for about 30.1 per cent of revenues, was up 3.1 per cent. The company highlighted that the aerospace business has turned a corner and defence led the growth. However, commercial auto segment continues to lag. The share of the transportation segment

GROWTH, MARGINS RISE

Growth QoQ	0.6	-1.1	-12.7	2.9	6.6
Ebit margins	16.8	15.2	12.1	13.7	15.2

Growth is on constant currency basis

BETTER THAN BENCHMARK

has declined sharply from nearly 36 per cent in the year-ago quarter. The company highlighted that newer areas, especially in the digital space, are witnessing good traction and about 49 per cent of its revenues come from these areas.

After reporting its highest large deal wins, led by a $100 million order in a quarter, the company indicated that the deal pipeline across all segments remains strong. This should aid growth, especially in FY22. The company also improved its guidance for revenue in FY21 to a contraction of 6.5 per cent as compared to falls of 7-8 per cent band that it had guided earlier. The guidance indicates a 3 per cent sequential growth in the March quarter, which analysts believe is conservative. What could, however, peg back deal momentum is any further lockdown in Europe and Japan.

Strong growth on a sequential basis, as well as operational efficiencies, led to a 150 basis points (bps) sequential uptick in margins to 15.2 per cent. The gains were led by higher utilisation, offshoring and cost savings. While higher variable pay and sub-contractor costs did offset some of the gains, the company hopes to reach the 17 per cent margin levels achieved a year ago.

Despite the improving outlook and guidance, the stock fell 5 per cent. Analysts believe that most of the gains are already factored into the price, and valuations around 30 times its FY22 earnings estimates are expensive. Given the 10-12 per cent medium- to long-term earnings growth (estimated by brokerages such as Antique Stock Broking), further correction in the stock, which has gained 119 per cent since the start of FY21, could be used to accumulate for the long term.

Retirement funds can nudge investors to save

The disciplined ones can accumulate for this crucial goal, using equity, debt funds, and NPS

SANJAY KUMAR SINGH

Eight leading mutual fund (MF) houses already offer retirement plans. SBI MF, the country's largest fund house by assets under management, joined their ranks recently when it launched the SBI Retirement Benefit Fund (SBIRBF).

Multiple fund options

These are open-end funds that come with a lock-in, which could be either five years or a certain age (65 in SBIRBF), whichever comes earlier. Each fund offers several plans — some fund houses offer two and some up to four. Each plan has a certain asset allocation.

In the case of SBIRBF, the four plans are: aggressive (equity allocation 80-100 per cent); aggressive-hybrid (equity allocation 65-80 per cent), conservative hybrid (debt allocation 60-90 per cent), and conservative (debt allocation 80-100 per cent).

Customise your plan

SBIRBF offers the 'My Choice' option, under which the investor can select a plan and stick to it for as long as he wants to. Also available is the auto-transfer option wherein his/her assets get moved to a lower-risk plan at a specific age. He/she can stay in the aggressive plan up to 40; in the aggressive hybrid plan from 40-50; in conservative hybrid from 50-60; and in conservative above 60.

Says Gaurav Mehta, fund manager, SBI MF, who will manage SBIRBF: "The four plans cater to different age and risk profiles. As the investor moves along them, his/her equity allocation reduces, allowing him/her to lock in gains by moving to a more conservative plan in the later stages of life."

These branded, solution-oriented funds, offer another advantage.

"Investors tend not to use them for purposes other than retirement. On the other hand, if they own a generic hybrid fund, they can withdraw money from it to fund other goals," says Vishal Dhawan, chief financial planner, PlanAhead Wealth Advisors.

Investors can also use the systematic withdrawal plan (SWP) option in them. In case of investors in the higher tax brackets, proceeds from SWP are taxed more favourably than interest income from other pension products.

Limited to a single fund house

The investor should ideally be diversified across fund managers in his/her retirement portfolio. "One should ideally go with the best fund manager in each asset class instead of investing one's entire retirement portfolio with a single fund house," says Dhawan.

The expense ratios of such hybrid funds also tend to be higher than if the investor were to use a combination of an active or passive equity fund and a short-term debt fund.

Who should opt for them?

Investors who tend to liquidate their assets for other goals may go for these funds. Those who chase the highest-performing asset class should also opt for their diversified portfolios (along with the benefit of rebalancing).

Investors who can take their own asset allocation decisions, alter it according to age and changing risk profile, rebalance periodically, and not withdraw from their retirement corpus for other goals may build a retirement portfolio using a mix of simple active and passive diversified equity funds, and debt funds.

"A combination of open-end diversified equity and debt funds and National Pension System is a good alternative for building your retirement corpus," says Dhawan.

Sebi slaps ₹1-crore fine on HDFC Bank in BRH case

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 21 January

Sebi on Thursday imposed a penalty of ₹1 crore on HDFC Bank for invoking securities pledged by stock broker BRH Wealth Kretors in violation of the regulator's interim directions.

In addition, the bank has been directed to transfer ₹158.68 crore along with 7 per cent interest per annum into an escrow account till the issue of settlement of clients' securities is reconciled, Sebi said in an order.

The instant proceedings have essentially arisen on account of non-compliance by HDFC Bank with the directions contained in the interim order issued by Sebi against BRH and other entities on October 7, 2019.

Through the interim order, Sebi had directed BRH to cease and desist from undertaking any activity in the securities market and further, its assets would be utilised only for the purpose of payment of money and/or delivery of securities, as the case may be, to the clients or investors under the supervision of the concerned exchanges or depositories. As such, the expression "assets" was extended to all properties of BRH, including securities, that were pledged by it against which funds were raised from HDFC Bank and other financial institutions, Sebi noted.

Further, the depositories and banks were directed not to make debits from the demat as well as bank accounts of BRH.

Sebi found that HDFC Bank on October 14, 2019 invoked the pledge of securities to the extent of ₹158.68 crore and thereafter, sold most of the securities and appropriated the sale proceeds towards the outstanding under various credit facilities advanced by the bank to BRH.
