BUT HOSPITALISATION AND DEATHS WILL COME DOWN SIGNIFICANTLY IN 6-9 MONTHS: EXPERTS

Herd Immunity Unlikely Soon; Virus'll Keep Circulating: Experts

Teena.Thacker @timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Public health experts in India are of the view that reaching herd immunity is unlikely any time in the near future and believe that the virus will continue to circulate. They believe that hospitalisations and deaths will continue to happen but there will be a significant reduction around six to nine months from now. Herd immunity is said to take place, once a large proportion of a stable population becomes immune to a microbe, either through infection or vaccination.

At that point, others in that community who are not immune will be protected because transmission of the virus is blocked by those who are immune.

"That is actually herd protection, not herd immunity. If a non-immune person steps out of that protective cordon and travels to a place where the virus is actively circulating, the person can still get infected. Herd immunity is a population attribute, not an individual attribute," said K Srinath Reddy, president, Public Health Foundation of India (PHFI). Reddy said that in a highly mobile world where people are moving from place to place, a non-immune person will still be very vulnerable. Therefore, he recommends that it is better for everyone to be vaccinated. "We are in for a long haul in fighting this virus," said Giridhara Babu, a senior epidemiologist. In other countries like the UK the pandemic appears to be under some sort of control due to the impact of the lockdown and vaccination. On May 3, 2021, the UK reported 1,649 new positive cases, and only one Covid-19 death. In France, however, cases remained at around 35,000 per day until mid-April. Germany and Spain had peaks in October and again in early 2021 with an intervening period of low cases.

"We need to sustain a battle-ready army of health workforce and resources to fight each wave while preparing for the endemic nature of the disease in the long run. Vaccination is our best weapon out there," added Babu.

With the variants spreading fast in India and a slow pace of vaccination, herd immunity doesn't look to be within reach, experts say. "With mutations, changing infectivity, and possibility that immunity may not be as effective as initially believed, chronic simmering infection and small spikes is a real possibility," said Anoop Misra, chairman, Fortis C-Doc.

Auto Output to Hit 9-Mth Low in May

Ketan Thakkar & Ashutosh R Shyam

Mumbai: Production in the Indian auto industry is set to hit a nine-month low in May as factories are getting shut and the supply chain is fractured amid a surge in Covid-19 infection across the country and partial lockdowns in several places.

More than half a dozen vehicle makers including Maruti Suzuki, Hyundai Motor India, Mahindra & Mahindra, Toyota Kirloskar, Hero MotoCorp, Honda Motorcycle, and Ashok Leyland have advanced maintenance shutdown to break the chain of infection. South Korean carmaker Hyundai on Tuesday became the latest vehicle maker to intimate vendors of a shut down from May 10 to 15.

The total auto industry output this month is likely to be 1.2-1.5 million vehicles – almost half of the original plan, industry insiders said.

With about half of the retail stores also shut, sales are likely to fall to a 6-9 months low, they said.

Indian automakers had produced nearly 2.5 million vehicles in March 2021, of which 81% was two-wheelers, 14% passenger cars, and the remaining 5% commercial vehicles and three-wheelers.

The tentative production plans carmakers shared with vendors suggest that they are planning to produce 180,000-200,000 units this month, down from 320,000 units in March. This would be the lowest in nine months.

Passenger vehicle makers had sold nearly 297,000 units on an average in a month in the second half of FY21.

A vendor of a leading carmaker said the company's plans are fluid and a ramp-up of production will entirely hinge on caseloads of coronavirus on May 9 and May 10 as well as availability of industrial gases for production of vehicles and their parts.

Cryogenic tankers used to transport nitrogen, argon and other industrial gases are now being used for ferrying medical oxygen from plants to various states as hospitals across cities face a shortage of the life-saving gas.

Foreign Travellers may Avoid India for Quite a While

Vinod Mahanta & Anumeha Chaturvedi

Mumbai | New Delhi: Foreign tourists won't return to India in a hurry after the country's reputation as a safe tourist destination has taken a severe beating overseas due to the record-high Covid-19 caselcad, surging death toll and criticism over the government's handling of the second wave of the pandemic.

Amid the unfolding crisis, global media outlets have painted a grim picture of people dying while waiting for hospital beds, a crippling oxygen shortage, a health system on its knees and heart rending stories of mass cremations in India.

Industry experts say travel and hospitality companies that largely cater to international tourists were already struggling with yet another failed winter season, but the negative publicity that India is drawing across the world currently will continue to hit them hard for next two-three years.

"India's image as a leisure destination has surely been impacted; just look at the sheer number of Covid cases and fatalities. I don't see leisure travel taking off well into next year. It's not happening in a hurry," said Ajay Bakaya, managing director, Sarovar Hotels & Resorts.

India reported 6.6 million coronavirus cases last month.

As per the Ministry of Tourism, the number of foreign tourist arrivals shrank to 0.21 million in the April-December period of 2020, compared with 7.73 million a year earlier. And due to heavy drop in tourist arrival, thousands of small businesses that cater to international tourists have shut shop or are struggling to survive.

"The impact has been devastating for small tourist agencies, tour guides, taxi drivers and hawkers operating in major tourist place like Delhi, Kerala, Goa, Kashmir and Jaipur. The whole ecosystem which caters to the international travellers is facing continuity issues," Stic Travel & Air Charter Group chairman Subhash Goyal said.

Bill and Melinda Gates File for Divorce after 27 Yrs of Marriage

Reuters

Seattle: Billionaire benefactors Bill and Melinda Gates, co-founders of one of the world's largest private charitable foundations, filed for divorce on Monday after 27 years of marriage but pledged to continue their philanthropic work together. The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation is one of the most powerful and influential forces in global public health, spending more than $50 billion over the past two decades to bring a business approach to combating poverty and disease.

The Gates have backed widely praised programs in malaria and polio eradication, child nutrition and vaccines.

The foundation last year committed some $1.75 billion to Covid-19 relief.

In a joint petition for dissolution of marriage, the couple asserted their legal union was "irretrievably broken", but said they had reached agreement on how to divide their marital assets. No details of that accord were disclosed in the filing in King County Superior Court in Seattle.
