What Politicians Who Lost Are Doing..!

Since elections are over I decided to visit some of those who had stood for the elections and lost and find out what they were doing, "Where is your husband?" I asked the wife of an independent candidate, who had lost his deposit in the last ten elections he had stood in.

"Busy preparing his victory speech!" she said, a pleased look on her face.

"But he's never won till now?" I asked surprised.

"He gives the speech to all who voted for him!" she said.

"When and where?" I asked. "After every election in our bedroom!" she said, "He stands on the cot and thanks me for the single vote he was able to get! But this time he's in for a surprise!" "Why?" I asked.

"I didn't vote for him!" she whispered with a pleased look.

The next losing candidate I visited was busy going round his house instructing a contractor about something, "What are you doing?" I asked.

'I'm making an outer wall, around this wall!" he said as the contractor

"For security?" I asked.

"No, to store all the money people gave me thinking I would win. The space between the two walls, will be used to store their cash and I will tell them I spent everything on the elections!'

I moved away as I saw an army of masons entering and went over to the bald assistant chief of one of the parties, "How are you spending your time?" I asked pleasantly.

"I am expecting a visitor!" he said gruffly and the next moment a bullet proof car drove up and a dimple cheeked young man got out and walked over to the assistant bald chief and hugged him.

"I always like to hug!" said the dimple cheeked young man.

"But you should not wink after that!" said the other man, "Come let us go in and have some chai. I make as good tea as my leader!"

Whoa! Whoa!" I shouted to the watchman, "Those two are...." "Yes sir! Yes sir!" whispered the watchman, "They are just making plans that in case the party which wrested seats from both of them starts infighting, they will come together and form a government!"

But they fought each other tooth and nail and the voters for both were distinctly different!" I said shocked. "Sir!" said the watchman, "Politics makes strange...." "Yes! Yes! I know!" I said, and slunk back to my newsroom deciding not to do any more checking about what the others who lost were doing even as I realized in politics there were no losers..!

Meenakshi Mission Hospital pioneers wireless pacemaker

Chennai, May 6: Meenakshi Mission Hospital and Research Centre, Madurai, one of the leading superspeciality hospitals in Tamil Nadu, becomes the first in the state to conduct the implantation of a wireless pacemaker which is placed typically in a patient's chest and thus needs wires (known as leads) to supply energy for the heart muscles to beat, this new generation pacemaker is implanted directly into the heart and does not require leads. As it is leadless, there is no question of the risk of lead damage ('lead fracture'), a major complication associated with traditional P. Pandian who developed implants that results in atrioventricular block, a electrical signals between the upper and lower chambers of the heart are weakened or damaged. The procedure was done by the Dr. R. Sivakumar, Interventional Cardiology, of the Meenakshi Mission Hospital.

The implantation

Made by Medtronic and sold under the brand name of Micra, the leadless pacemaker belongs to the atrioventricular (AV) category - that is, it is implanted into the right ventricle of the heart. It is also the world's smallest pacemaker, about 93% smaller than the traditional pacemakers. Micra AV offers a 12-year battery longevity.

Micra AV, approved by the US FDA last year, is that it uses a minimally invasive procedure, through a vein in the leg. This requires no chest incision, and thus there is no scar or bump under
