Nashik: A vada pav vendor living in Ahmedabad district under a fictitious name has been arrested by Nashik police, ending his 23-year run as a murder case convict who had jumped parole.

Ravindra Pande, 62, was arrested on Friday. He was one of the five persons of the Birju Gij and Ravindra Pande gang convicted for the kidnap and murder of Vaibhav Katyare, 16, on September 15, 1992. An offence had been registered with Nashik Road police under various sections of the Indian Penal Code and also the Terrorist and Disruptive Activities (Prevention) Act

SVNIT students get training at Asia's biggest geotech lab

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Vadodara: The National High Speed Rail Corporation Limited (NHSRCL) is organizing training programmes for civil engineering students at the Geo technical investigation lab, considered as Asia's biggest geotechnical laboratory, in Surat.

The laboratory is set up for the Ahmedabad-Mumbai high speed rail project by M/s L&T which is executing the civil works between Ahmedabad and Vapi. The laboratory has generated employment for around 900 persons including engineers, technicians and skilled labourers, a NHSRCL official said on Saturday. It can conduct 3,500 tests per day through 20 geotechnical engineers and 188 lab technicians. During the training, students are familiarized with instruments being used for various geotechnical investigations.

UP man's crime as teen catches up after 20 yrs

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Vadodara: A juvenile court in Vadodara will witness a 37-year-old man being produced as a child in conflict with law by Karelibaug police.

Strange as it may sound, but it was shock for the man, a native of Uttar Pradesh, who was taken into custody by the surveillance staff of Karelibaug police station for a serious crime of abducting a minor girl for marriage as a teenager in 2001. The man and the woman were teenage lovers and wanted to get married but fearing that her family would not accept their relation, the duo fled from Vadodara and lived in Delhi for some time before settling down in his native place.

The man, who is now the father of their three children had kidnapped his minor 'love' for which he was booked by the police then. However, despite keeping a vigil on their relatives in the city, cops could never find the love birds in nearly two decades.

On Saturday, cops found themselves to be lucky when they received information about the 'teen and his abducted minor girl' had come to city to meet her relatives as a much married couple living a happy married life with their three children. When cops saw him near the Friday flea market, surveillance sleuths took him into custody and brought him to the police station.

Police source said that when the man was taken into custody, his wife requested cops to leave him as the crime is irrelevant now. "We pacified her by saying that it is a procedural matter," said a cop.

"Although he is a 37-year-old man, but since he was a minor when he committed the crime, he will be considered a juvenile," said inspector V N Mahida of Karelibaug police station.

The 'accused' will be produced before a juvenile court in accordance with the law, Mahida added.

Man kills son over land dispute

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Vadodara: Fight over ancestral land turned ugly when a 55-year-old man hacked his son to death in cold blood with an axe in Kotambi village of Waghodiya taluka on Friday midnight.

The man allegedly bore a grudge after he had been physically abused by the son in yet another episode of father-son argument over dinner. According to Vadodara rural police, Kanu Parmar, the accused has been detained and have been quarantined until his Covid-19 test report arrives.

Police said that after dinner, the family was asleep, when Parmar's wife Kailash woke up around midnight after hearing a thud. She looked around the room to locate the noise and was shocked to see her husband hitting their 25-year-old son, Ra-
